Dear District Court Judge:

My comment on the Microsoft settlement is that Microsoft should be left alone. =

The antitrust case should never have been brought against the company.
The idea that Microsoft is a monopoly is not only false, but my own persona=
I
experience adds additional proof.
None of the systems in our office use Microsoft products, so how can it be that Microsoft is a coercive monopoly. How come they haven't coerced our company?
Nonetheless millions of people have freely chosen to use Windows and other Microsoft products. It is shameful that the government has gone after this innovative company.

Sincerely, =

John Gillis
